DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "connector" in claim 3 lines 1, 2, and 5 has no clear antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-3 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Silverwood.

Silverwood discloses the claimed assembly including a support member 12 made of a rigid metal (see column 2, line 49) and having a passageway, and a self-tapping screw 10 with a head portion and ledge. These elements of Silverwood are considered to be capable of functioning as a window support as broadly as recited. The phrase "consisting essentially of" has been read in a manner that does not exclude other features in Silverwood.

Silverwood discloses the claimed invention except for the support member being fabricated of a corrosive resistant material.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to fabricate the metal support member of Silverwood of a corrosion resistant material because the use of corrosion resistant metal fastener components for exterior applications are notoriously well known in order to extend the life of the fastener components.

Re claims 5-7, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the support member and the connector to have the claimed dimensions as an obvious matter of choice of an assembly of a size suitable for the intended use absent a showing of the criticality thereof.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 and 5-7 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. The claims fail to positively recite a combination of the apparatus and any vehicle structure. The only positively recited features are the support member features and the self-tapping screw features. The functional language is given weight to the extent that any reference having the recited structural features must be “capable” of performing the function in the claim. In this instance, Silverwood discloses all of the claimed features of the support member and the self-tapping screw and is “capable” of performing the function set forth in the claims. The fact that Silverwood does not explicitly mention the use of the apparatus in the replacement of a windshield does not minimize the function that the apparatus of Silverwood is “capable” of performing.

Conclusion

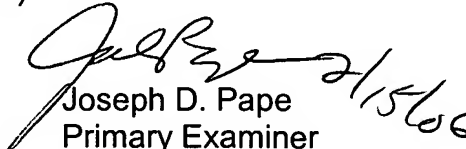

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
